The Time Traveling Panda

By: Oliver Douglas

Age: 7

Chapter 1: Finding the Machine

Once upon a time, there was a baby panda named Mike, who lived with his family in the zoo. Mike loved being with his family, but was curious about what was outside of the zoo.

One day he noticed a hole in the fence and wondered if he could fit through it. He was about to try when his dad called him for dinner.

That night, a storm came. Mike felt scared and ran through the hole. He ran into the woods where he saw a big tree that had a branch that looked like a handle. He pulled on it and a door in the tree opened.

Chapter 2: Inside the Machine

Mike walked through the door in the tree and saw some chairs, a dashboard and a window. He thought that it must be a machine. On the dashboard was a key pad and on the chair was a book. He opened the book and found that it was filled with numbers. Curious, he typed 12354621 onto the key pad. When he hit enter, the door swung close with a loud thud. He looked out the window. He saw that a colorful portal had surrounded the tree.

He started to scream when suddenly the portal stopped and when he looked out the window again he noticed that the trees had changed. He was no longer close to his home.

He heard a stomping noise and when he looked out the window, he saw a big T-rex coming towards him! Mike was so terrified that he could barely think to use another code from the book. The T-rex picked up the tree and tried to eat it and luckily for Mike, it was too hard.

Suddenly the book hit Mike right on the head which made him remember about the numbers. He pressed the code 1628510 and the portal opened up and swallowed the tree and the T-rex right along with it.

Mike noticed a red button that said "Space Police". Knowing that police are there to help, he pressed the button. Suddenly the portal disappeared and they were in front of a Space Police Station. The doors to the station slid open and the Space Police came out riding hover boards. They surrounded the dinosaur and demanded that it put down the tree. When the T-rex obeyed, they brought him into the station.

Mike began to miss his home and family. He tried another code hoping that it would bring him home, but it brought him to the Dark Ages instead.

The tree appeared in the middle of a village and it looked weird to the villagers. They had never seen anything like that before. They felt very scared and began attacking the tree.

Mike panicked. He tried to press the "Space Police" button to help him, but accidentally pressed the "Wormhole" button instead. Mike was transported back to his time, but somehow a dinosaur got into the wormhole too.

Chapter 3: A Big Mistake

When Mike got back home, he felt happy and relieved. He opened the door and ran as fast as he could towards his family at the zoo.

He ran out of the woods and back through the hole in the fence where he found his family who had been very worried about him. They ran towards each other and had a great big family hug.

Then they heard a stomping noise coming from the woods. Mike and his family saw the dinosaur charging toward the zoo in search of food.

As the dinosaur destroyed the zoo. Mike told his parents that he had no time to explain. He ran out the hole in the fence, into the woods and found the time machine. He got in and looked at all the buttons and found the "Put it Back to Normal" button. He pressed it. The universe seemed to close together and in a second, it was back to normal.

Everything seemed to be exactly how it would have been if the dinosaur had never been there, but everyone remembered.

Chapter 4: Making Things Right

"Dad", Mike said to his father. "I noticed that if an animal left his habitat, it would not be able to survive. So, I think we should stay here". "You're right" said his dad. "We will stay here". And they did.